

http://www.contactmusic.com/news.nsf/article/snow%20makes%20students%20day%20by%20donating%20dress_1065480

BRITTANY SNOW - SNOW MAKES STUDENT'S DAY BY DONATING DRESS

April 13, 2008

Caption: Brittany Snow. World Premiere of 'Prom Night' held at The Cinerama Dome at the Arclight Theatre- Arrivals . Hollywood, California - 09.04.08

Actress BRITTANY SNOW has made a student's dreams come true - by giving the broke teenager her homecoming dress to wear at her high school prom.

The 22-year-old missed her own prom because she was filming U.S. TV drama American Dreams, but she did manage to go to her high school homecoming in a blue dress she designed herself, and which was made by the show's seamstress.

During an appearance on American television's Rachael Ray on Friday (11Apr08), Snow surprised student Samantha Danico, who can't afford to buy an expensive prom dress, by handing over her frock.

Snow said, "DonateMyDress.org are doing this thing where celebrities are giving their dresses to this organisation (who) are giving them away to people who maybe don't want to spend $400 on a dress.

"So I have a surprise - I'm going to give you my dress."